DETAILED ACTION

1. This action is responsive to communication: Amendment filed on 07/07/05.

This action is made final.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-10, 12-14 and 26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nusbick et al., US# 6,119,113, in view of Moskowitz, US# 2002/0010684 A1, and further in view of Rice, III, US# 2002/0174010 A1.

As per claims 1, 7, and 10, Nusbick et al. teaches "recording a unique identifier to each of a plurality of storage media issued" (see abstract) "a database for storing and managing the identifiers" (see col. 2, lines 64-67 and col. 3, lines 1-15) "reading the recorded identifier from any of said storage media" (see col. 8, lines 55-67) "said reading means against said identifiers managed in said database" (see col. 8, lines 45-67) "the storage medium identified by the checked identifier depending on a result of the check by said checking means" (see col. 4, lines 66-67 and col. 5, lines 1-22).

Nusbick et al. does not explicitly teach "said terminal device corresponding to the package storage medium . . .". Moskowitz teaches "said terminal device corresponding to the package storage medium . . . right information . . ." (see paragraph [0023], [0079], [0129], and [0229]). It would have been obvious at the time of the invention for one of ordinary skill in the art to have combined the teachings of Nusbicked with Moskowitz above, because using the steps of "said terminal device corresponding to the storage medium . . . right information", would have given those skilled in the art the tools to process stored information based on the particular identifier more efficiently. This give users the advantage of being able to render personal information in a safe, fast and secure fashion electronically. Nusbicked et al. does not explicitly tech "package storage medium." Rice teaches "package storage medium" (see paragraph [0124] and [0219]). It would have been obvious at the time of the invention for one of ordinary skill in the art the tools to process/manipulate package storage medium, such as Mini-discs in an Internet service provider environment. This gives users the advantage of offering Internet users transaction capabilities in more expeditious manner.

Art Unit: 2163

As per claim 2, Nusbicked teaches "said identifiers, right information which denotes services available to said storage media identified by said identifiers" (see col. 6, lines 21-46).

As per claims 3-4, these claims are rejected on grounds corresponding to the arguments given above for rejected claims 1-2, and are similarly rejected.

As per claim 5, Nusbicked teaches "content data storing means for storing a plurality of content data items" (see col. 2, lines, 64-67 and col. 3, lines 1-14) "allows relevant content data to be downloaded from said content data" (see 3, lines 49-67, whereas Nusbicked's Web server and HTTP compatible product, clearly illustrate the ability to upload and download data in a fashion similar to applicant's claim language.

As per claim 6, this claim is rejected on grounds corresponding to the arguments given above for rejected claim 5 and is similarly rejected.

As per claims 7-8, these claims are rejected on the grounds corresponding to the arguments given above for rejected claim 1 and are similarly rejected.

As per claim 9, this claim is rejected on grounds corresponding to the arguments given above for rejected claim 1 and is similarly rejected including the following:

--Nusbicked teaches "Judging means for judging whether or not the corresponding right information indicates permission to download . . ." (see col. 4, lines 3-45, whereas the Nusbicked's web browser include the capacity to indicate whether information indicates permission to transfer in a manner claimed by the applicant).

As per claim 12, this claim is rejected on grounds corresponding to the arguments given above for rejected claim 1 and is similarly rejected including the following:

--Nusbicked teaches "a management server . . . storing means . . ." (see col. 3, lines 49-65).

As per claims 13-14, Nusbicked teaches "update information creating means . . . updating authentication information stored . . ." (see col. 2, lines 2-17).

As per claims 26, this claim is rejected on grounds corresponding to the arguments given above for rejected claim 1 and is similarly rejected.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-10, 12-14 and 26 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

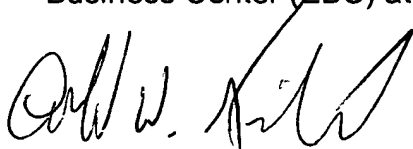

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
